

Gruffudd ab Owain
Executive Principal
Aedas

Gruffudd has close to 20 years of experience working on a wide range of sectors in the field of architecture. He has an expertise in mixed-use and transit-oriented developments, especially when it comes to integrating the two for a holistic design approach. Gruffudd's projects include Landmark in Yangon, Myanmar, Damansara mixed-use development in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, several Mass Rapid Transit Stations in Singapore and the Dubai Metro. Additionally, he has amassed international experience from working on projects such as the Cardiff International Airport and Atlantic Wharf leisure development in the United Kingdom.

Gruffudd's works have been highly acknowledged, with Marina Bay Station clinching the winner of design in UITP Asia-Pacific Grow with Public Transport Award 2013 and winner of small projects in the World Architecture Festival Awards 2012. Most recently, Sentosa Boardwalk was conferred Best Leisure Architecture in Asia Pacific in the Asia Pacific Property Awards, on top of its DFA Silver Award won in Design for Asia Award 2013.

With his ability to handle multi-disciplinary design teams working through virtual office systems, Gruffudd has consistently delivered quality fast track projects with global consultant teams in the region.
