AREA OF EXPERTISE

Andrew Haskins joined Colliers as Executive Director, Research, Asia in late February 2016. He is responsible for directing research output by 50-60 staff across the regional offices and will drive a more integrated and client-centric research approach to deliver forward-looking market insights for the benefit of clients and Colliers professionals. Andrew has 27 years of experience – including 13 years in Asia – in equity analysis, strategic research and property research. He has:

- Long experience with global investment banks and property services groups in Asia including Japan, Europe and the Middle East.
- Expertise in industry analysis, accounting, financial modelling and corporate valuation.
- Management success in building businesses from scratch with limited resources.
- Strong ability to spot strategic trends and attractive investments.

PROFESSIONAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Andrew is skilled in rigorous, strategic analysis of regional and global trends and has deep expertise in accounting, financial forecasting and corporate valuation. He has built and led successful teams in Asia and the Middle East, and has extensive experience of serving senior institutional clients around the world.
